

[2001]

Concordia
UNIVERSITY

The English Department of Concordia University presents its annual
Lahey Lecture

Natalie Zemon Davis

(Princeton University & University of Toronto)

"The Knot of Slavery:
Joanna and Stedman in Suriname"

Thursday November 29 8:30 P.M.
Hall Building Auditorium 110 • 1455 De Maisonneuve Boulevard

Natalie Zemon Davis is a world renowned author of numerous acclaimed and innovative books in the areas of history, literary and film studies, and cultural studies, including The Return of Martin Guerre (Harvard, 1983), which was made into a film starring Gerard Depardieu, Women on the Margins: Three Seventeenth-Century Lives (Harvard, 1995), Slaves on Screen: Film and Historical Vision (Harvard, 2000), and The Gift in Sixteenth-Century France (Oxford, 2000). She is the recipient of the Arnold Toynbee Prize (2000), Sidney Hook Memorial Award (2000), and the Aby Warburg Prize (2001).

Engraving by William Blake